16-year-old pedestrian killed on Highway 43

Car struck girl then went into opposite lane, causing crash

JOHN WATERMAN
Staff Writer

A two-car wreck on Highway 603 resulted in the death of a 16-year-old girl on Thursday night.

The accident occurred on Highway 43 South in Kiln. A Toyota driven by Irene Smith, 79, of Bogaloua struck and killed Wendy Fasone, 16, of Picayune, who was walking by the roadside. After hitting Fasone, Smith's vehicle careened into the southbound lane and nearly collided with a pickup truck driven by Murray Farmer, 26, of Mobile, Alabama.

Farmer swerved off the road to avoid collision, and overturned his vehicle. Both cars sustained heavy damage. Fasone was pronounced dead on the scene. Farmer and Smith were both taken to Crosby Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

A similar incident occurred the previous night on Highway 90 near the Bay St. Louis bridge. Two vehicles, travelling east and west collided when a Honda Accord driven by William Vontour of Pass Christian jumped the median and crashed head-on into a Nissan Altima driven by Matthew Schmidt of Bay St. Louis.

Both vehicles were totalled, and both drivers were taken to Hancock Medical center for treatment.

A routine traffic stop by a Mississippi State Trooper Thanksgiving for a missing license plate on Interstate 10 at the 22-mile marker, netted approximately two kilos of cocaine, according to Sgt. Joe Gazzo, Patrol spokesman.

In a news release Gazzo said, "Trooper James Ivory observed a 1995 Chevy Tahoe with no license tag. He stopped the vehicle and after a brief conversation, became suspicious and received permission to search the vehicle."

"During the vehicle's check, Ivory discovered the

Port & Harbor holds off on rent decision

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Hancock County Port and Harbor commissioners said they will hold off on a decision about whether to raise rent on a building used by Hancock Industries at Port Bienville. Director Hal Walters suggested a $250 a month raise in rent to cover the cost of insurance and other expenses associated with the rental. The hike would raise rent from $500 to $750 a month.

George Graves asked commissioners to hold off on the raise for at least a year to give the organization a chance to replace clients lost when Folger moved its center of operations from the area. The company accounted for about 90 percent of the organizations contracts, Graves said. Hancock Industries provides employment to mentally and physically challenged workers. Hancock Industries has been leasing the "old Gonzales building" at the port since the mid 1980s and at one time operated from the building. Now it is used mainly for storage, though Graves said the building could be used for other purposes as work needs dictate.

"We need the building," said Graves, who said he was grateful for help commissioners had provided in the past and would provide in the future. The organization will keep the building no matter what the answer is on a rent increase, he said.

The building was basically a derelict when Hancock Industries took over the space, he said, and the organizations has made many needed repairs at their own expense, including installing electricity, putting in a septic system and making roof repairs.

Commissioners said they would discuss the matter at a Finance Committee meeting not yet scheduled. Commissioner Shari McIntyre Rapp and Dave McDonald said they considered the work done by Hancock Industries to be an important community service.

Waveland P.D. prepares for 'Shop w/a Cop'

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

This Christmas season Waveland police officers want to see 100 happy children running through Kmart. This will be the fifth year that the department has sponsored the "Shop With A Cop" event for local children. The event pairs police officers with kids for a holiday shopping spree.

The Second Annual Charity Golf Tournament, at The Oaks golf club in Pass Christian was a success again this year. Last year's event was so successful that it enabled 68 children, who may not have had much of a Christmas, to shop for themselves and family members.

It is a far cry from the ten children the officers were able to sponsor in the first year of the event. That year, money came mostly from the officers own pockets and a few generous community members.

Anderson hopes that between the tournament and the continued generous donations from both individuals and businesses, that 100 children will be shopping this year. Officers in the department volunteer to shop with the kids the weekend before Christmas.

Donations of any amount will be greatly appreciated and all donations and all profits from the event will go to benefit the "Shop With A Cop Program." Donations of door prizes are also encouraged. For more information call Anderson or Capt. Mike Prendergast at the Waveland Police Department at 228-467-3669.

Annexation trial to begin

THE SEA COAST ECHO Counsel for both the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland will begin presenting evidence on Monday at 9 a.m. on each city's bid for annexation.

Bay St. Louis is asking for a large area east of Hwy. 603 and the entire business corridor of Hwy. 603 including an area just north of I-

10. Waveland is asking to add a section of land west of Hwy. 603 and the western side of the Hwy. 603 business corridor.

Waveland is also asking for an area on both sides of Hwy. 603 near the I-10 corridor.

The trial is scheduled to continue through the next three weeks.

Man tries to scam student

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

A college student reported Monday to the Hancock County Sheriff's office what could possibly be a scam, Chief Investigator Kenny Hurt said last week.

Hurt said: "The student reported she received a call on her cell phone while in class. The caller told her she was entitled to a student loan at a very low interest rate.

"All she had to do was forward her social security number and checking account number and in addition to $200 dollars to him."

It was also a coincidence that the student had just received a $800 loan for the courses she is taking. The catch too, was the $200 she would have to send the caller for his trouble in securing the loan. He in turn would direct deposit $800 in her checking account, Hurt allowed.

"I am glad the student did not give her social security and bank account number, or the $200, as the deal sure sounded like a scam to me too," Hurt said.

Hurt continued, "People need to know who they are dealing with. There is always someone out there trying to make a 'fast buck' at another person's expense."

Patrol car windows kicked out

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Publisher Emeritus

A response to a Welfare Concern by Hancock County Deputies led to two windows being kicked out of a patrol vehicle, according to Major Bobby Underwood.

"The incident occurred on the night of November 22, when Deputies Todd Drummond and Peggy Woolsey, responded to a Welfare Concern call," Underwood said Wednesday.

Underwood stated: "Deputies in what started out to be a domestic disturbance charge for Brent Smith, 22 of North Carolina Street, ended up with two felony and other charges."

"Smith was charged with two counts simple assault of police officers, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, malicious mischief, in addition to the domestic disturbance. His bond was set at $8,000 at the Hancock County Criminal Justice Facility," Underwood added.

Support the Doll & Toy Fund

Many, many years ago, several Bay St. Louis firefighters decided to do something for some deserving youngsters in the city.

The group came upon the idea of collecting used bicycles, repairing, painting and distributing them to some lucky boys and girls so they would have a happy Christmas.

This was great and after a few years led to the collection of dolls and other toys and the program became known as the Bay St. Louis Doll and Toy Fund program.

The chairman for the Doll and Toy Fund for many years is the retired former Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana. The program moved along smoothly for several more years and the demands became greater, not just from the Bay area, but the entire county.

The program under Lizana's leadership then expanded to be known as the Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund and it became an agency of the Hancock County United Way.

The Hancock County United Way joined in with Harrison County and the United Way of South Mississippi was formed.

The type of toys distributed over the years changed too, as the program now give out new items.

Now there are several ways the Doll and Toy

Fund receives financial support.

One way, which is coming on Saturday, December 4, and that is the Historic Bay St. Louis Holiday Tour of the City's Bed & Breakfast homes.

The hours will be from 5:30 to 8 p.m. and tickets are $12 each. The Bed & Breakfast homes to be on tour are: The Heritage House, The Bay Town Inn, The Palm House and The Trust.

The Historic L&N Train Depot will have complimentary parking and trolley transportation to each of the Inns.

The Coast Chorale and Our Lady Academy's Ensembles will perform holiday music at all locations.

Tickets can be purchased at the door of the evening tour, or pre-purchased from Old Town Merchants, Bay Fire Department, or the B&B's.

The good thing is that ALL proceeds will benefit the Doll and Toy Fund.

Do not forget the Pearl River Community College Hancock Center's Open House and Ribbon cutting scheduled for Tuesday, November 30th.

The ribbon cutting is scheduled for 5 p.m. and will be followed by an Open House.

Federal budget contains funding for many south Mississippi projects

Former Speaker O'Neill used to say "all politics is local," and he was right. This year's federal budget appropriations bill contains a lot of local projects for Mississippi. As your Senator, it's my job to represent Mississippi and her interests, and, as in most federal budgets, your Congressional delegation has left Mississippi's mark.

for several major initiatives around our state, including funds for historic preservation in Mississippi's six coastal counties, funds for the University of Southern Mississippi's Center for Excellence in Economic Development, and a multi-cultural leadership initiative at the University of Mississippi.

Gulf Coast Heritage Area Designation: The Omnibus Appropriations Bill provides $10 million over the next 10 fiscal years for historic preservation efforts in George, Stone, Pearl River, Jackson, Harrison and Hancock counties. Entities within these counties may apply each year for this money to be used for any preservation project that pertains to the coast's unique cultural, historic and natural heritage.

This is a flexible program which will contribute a lot toward saving our coast's special heritage for the enjoyment and understanding of future generations. National Center for Excellence in Economic Development: Two million dollars are set aside to fund USM's National Center for Excellence in Economic Development - a new building and program that will consolidate and expand USM's entire economic development curriculum. USM has the most unique and comprehensive economic development degree program in the nation. It's the only university offering accredited economic development degrees through the Ph.D. level.

It takes skilled, seasoned economic developers to represent communities in the global competition for jobs.

WHAT THEY NEED FOR CHRISTMAS

Where does your gas tax money go?

BY LARRY L. "BUTCH" BROWN

Everyone who stops at a Mississippi gas pump pays a gas tax. Currently, the gas tax is 18.4 cents per gallon. Many people think that the entire gas tax goes to pay for highway construction and maintenance, and that makes perfect sense. But, that's not entirely true. So, where does your gas tax go?

According to the Mississippi State Tax Commission, the gross motor fuel tax collection for fiscal year 2003-2004 was over $406 million. The Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) only received 63 percent of that amount last fiscal year at $265 million. Millions of dollars went to non-road construction entities such as Wildlife and Fisheries and Marine Resources. The remainder went to cities and counties, the State Aid Road fund for county bridge replacements, and the bond sinking fund.

Mississippi has not seen a gas tax increase since 1989, when it received a 1 cent boost. If the gas tax had been indexed to inflation, it would be closer to 25 cents per gallon today, instead of 18.4 cents. Since 1997, MDOT has seen declining amounts in gas tax revenue. In fiscal year 2002, the gas tax brought in $282.2 million in revenue for road construction.

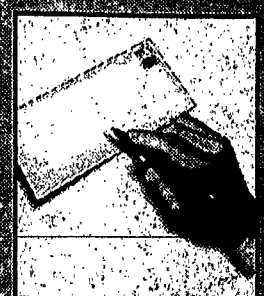

So, how do our neighboring states fare with their gas tax revenue? Let's take a look.

In Georgia, the primary highway funding comes from motor fuel tax and a four percent sales tax. The state gas tax is only 7.5 cents per gallon. But, that low amount actually pays off. All of that rev-

Enthusiasm and plans scribbled down on a paper napkin just aren't enough to win jobs in today's business environment. Economic development and job creation requires the services of professional economic developers like this center is producing.

Ole Miss Multi-Cultural Leadership Program: The University of Mississippi will use $3 million from this bill to organize a multi-cultural leadership initiative. Ole Miss has taken a lead in leadership education and development.

This initiative will be administered by the university's leadership institute dedicated last spring. Through symposiums and a speakers' series, it will develop leadership strategies specifically dealing with public service and government. The program is geared toward ways to bridge racial and ethnic divides, not just between black and white, but among all the varying cultures represented throughout America.

Law Enforcement, Transportation, Infrastructure and Research: The cities of Richton and Pascagoula, along with Jackson County will benefit from funding for law enforcement technology upgrades totaling almost $1 million.

There are $6 million in the bill for a new interchange near Sowell Road off I-55 near Jackson; $3.2 million to four lane Highway 67 from T-110 to Highway 49 near Biloxi; $2.7 million to four lane DeSoto County's Route 304, part of the new interstate I-69; $1 million for Improvement at Jackson's "Stack" interchange near U.S. 49; $4 million for the Canal Road Connector project near Gulfport and $1 million to extend the runway at Jackson County's airport to accommodate a new factory there.

About $34 million is slated to build new ships at Halter Marine in Jackson County; about $10 million is set aside for research programs at Stennis Space Center; $6 million for development and marketing of Mississippi's fisheries, including Gulf shrimp and red snapper; and another $1 million for the cities of Tchula and Brookhaven to improve water and sewer infrastructure.

Mississippi's delegation definitely left Mississippi's mark on this measure, and our state will be better for it. It proves yet again that national politics in Washington is indeed a most local matter.

Tax -- guest opinion

enue-except for 1 cent of the four percent sales tax goes directly to the Georgia Department of Transportation (GDOT) for use on roads and bridges. Funding for GDOT only varies based on gas sales, not by budget cuts or other variances in the state budget. In fiscal year 2003, the motor fuel tax, sales tax and interest on the motor fuel tax brought in $620.8 million for Georgia's transportation needs.

In Florida, the state gas tax is 14.3 cents per gallon. Add that to the State Comprehensive Enhanced Transportation System tax, it comes to a combined 16 cents per gallon. Those taxes generated almost $1.5 billion last fiscal year. In 2000, the Florida State Legislature decided to redirect millions of dollars in motor vehicle fees and fuel taxes that had been used to meet the state's general needs to meet transportation needs. In addition, the Florida Department of Transportation gets close to $500 million a year from vehicle registrations, and $200 million from initial registration fees and vehicle title fees.

Alabama collects 18 cents per gallon for fuel tax. Millions of dollars go to the state Water Safety fund, the Seafood Game fund and a Game and Fish fund. Of what's left, a little more than half goes to city and county governments and a bit less than half is put toward road and bridge construction and maintenance.

Tennessee has a gas tax of 21.4 cents per gallon and is expected to yield $615.3 million in the 2004-2005 fiscal years. Of that amount, the Tennessee Department of Transportation receives 12.8 cents or $370.2 million. TDOT also collects $120.5 million from motor fuel tax; $32.8 million from a gas inspection tax; $196 million from vehicle registrations; $2.7 million from a gross receipts tax and $2.2 million from a beer tax.

With declining fuel sales and the increased use of hybrid cars on the horizon, Mississippi must ensure that the gas tax meets our road construction and maintenance needs.

Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus presents four Christmas concerts

The Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus will perform four Christmas concerts this season: Thursday evening, December 2nd, at 7:30 p.m. in Pass Christian at St. Paul Catholic Church; Friday evening, Dec. 3rd, at 7:30 p.m. in Gulfport in the Fine Arts Auditorium at Jefferson Davis Campus of Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College; Saturday night, Dec. 4th, at 8:00 p.m. in Biloxi at the Saenger Theatre; and Sunday afternoon, Dec. 5th, at 3:00 p.m. in Moss Point at the First Missionary Baptist Church. The performances will include choral and solo selections from George F. Handel's oratorio, MESSIAH. Hilda Barnes will direct the chorus accompanied by a chamber orchestra.

Local high school and church choirs will present Christmas selections at the beginning of each concert. The Long Beach High School Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Dianne Holbert, will sing at St. Paul Catholic Church on Thursday evening.

The Bay High School Chorus, under the direction of Kristie Linton, will sing at the Saenger Theatre on Saturday night. The Gulfport High School Chorus, under the direction of Nikki Melvin, will sing at the Jeff Davis Auditorium on Friday night. And the adult choir of the Moss Point First Baptist Church, under the direction of Tracy Smith, will open the Sunday afternoon concert.

Handel's beloved MESSIAH, composed in the early 1740s, has a long performance history. It was first performed in London where many people were deeply religious and considered theater and this type of work blasphemous. Later, after a free hospital performance, its popularity began to rise.

The MESSIAH has met with wide and enduring response and is the only work of its kind to see a continued popularity through the centuries.

The Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus, in its fifty-second year of performances, is comprised of about 100 active singers from across the Gulf Coast. The concerts are presented at widespread venues along the coast to reach area audiences.

The public is cordially invited to the free performances. Donations are gratefully accepted.

Additional information is available on the Chorus' website: <http://www.gold-inc.com/messiah/>. Please contact Ed Cake at (228) 324-9292 for other information.

Watch for deer on highways

The Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) encourages motorists to watch for deer on the roadway which can result in devastating damage to a vehicle, especially during the upcoming holiday season and impending cold weather. Most car-deer collisions are serious causing an average of $1,500 in damage. Worse still, car-deer collisions often result in serious injury or even death. Often motorists are injured while taking evasive action to avoid striking a deer.

East Hancock collects for Food Pantry

The Hancock County Food Pantry received a record number of food items from a single source this month. Students from East Hancock Elementary welcomed the challenge to top last year's total number of food items collected by the school during their annual food drive. Mrs. Mary Enders, a fifth grade teacher, sponsored the event as part of an EHE community outreach program and her class was responsible for toting the cans and other food products to a Lion's Club member's trailer for transportation. Mrs. Enders' homeroom class was also the top collector for the upper grade levels. The final tally of the food items collected by the school was 4,546 products with Mrs. Marilyn White's class and Ms. Ashley Griffin's class collecting 1,000 cans for the top total in the lower grades. Pictured loading the cans onto the trailer are the students in Mrs. Enders' class, Principal Cheryl Ramseyer, Mary Enders and Lion's Club members Ricky Adam, Phil Ramseyer and Ted McCabe.

quality of life on the Gulf Coast," Clark said. "I'm proud to work with the Coast, delegation of the Mississippi Legislature and the Department of Marine Resources on the tidelands program. We must keep the program strong," Clark said. "I am absolutely committed to protecting the tidelands program and seeing this money spent where it is generated on the Coast," Clark stated. "In tight budget times like our state faces now, it's important for supporters of the tidelands program to remind the entire state how much good this money does. It benefits both the citizens of the Coast and our visitors, and promotes the tourism which is so important to Mississippi's economy." The people of Mississippi own the public trust tidelands, the land covered by water at high tide. Rent is collected by the Secretary of State's Office from tidelands leaseholders, including casinos. Tidelands are public trust lands held in trust for all the citizens of the state. Tidelands leases must be for fair market value and are based on independent appraisals. As Secretary of State, Clark negotiates leases of the public trust tidelands. The Mississippi Legislature through the Department of Marine Resources appropriates the lease revenue for specific projects. More than $51 million in tidelands lease revenue has been collected by the Secretary of State and turned over to the Department for coastal projects since 1990.

FY2005 Local Tidelands Projects include:

- City of Bay St. Louis - Property Acquisition & Improvements for Waterfront Access, $200,000.
- City of Pass Christian - Harbor Improvements, $200,000.
- City of Waveland - Pier/Marina Improvements, $100,000.
- Hancock County Board of Supervisors - Pearlinton Pier, $100,000.
- Hancock County Board of Supervisors - Washington Street Waterfront Park, $100,000.

Shopping -- holidays

which is known to be the busiest shopping day of the year. Mary Ann Governor, owner of Antique and Estate Auction Gallery in Waveland, said that business at her shop picked up dramatically on Friday. "It's busier than it has been since the last month," she said. "Usually, we're busy all year. The last couple of months have been slow, but its been picking up." Anthony LoBuono, who owns Trading Places on Coleman Ave., felt that most of the holiday business had gone to bigger stores, like Wal-Mart and the larger outlet malls. "Unfortunately, it hasn't been very good. It looks like a lot of people have been in the giant malls and big retailers. Small businesses suffer from that. People finish shopping there, and they don't have any money left." The Waveland Wal-Mart Supercenter saw a good deal of business. Ray Cox, the store manager, said he did not have the exact figures for Friday's business, although customers were in and out all day. "It was a good day. You see a lot more gift merchandise (sold) on that day. It kicks off the gift-selling season," he said. Many businesses in Bay St. Louis said a large number of out-of-town visitors, as well as local customers, came to the area to shop as well. Michael Welch and Pat

Saiki, who work at Antiques and Things and the Quarter Moon on Main Street, respectively, said that while they did not get as many people as the larger malls, they still had a good business day thanks to the attention of local customers and out-of-town visitors. "It's been really good here," Welch said. "The afternoon was probably the slowest it's been since early this morning." Jerry Dixon, owner of Serenity Gallery, said that the holiday season was always good for business, as people were more likely to shop for pieces of art. "It's been great," he said. "Business has been very good. I'd like to use the word 'wonderful.'" cocaine behind the radiator. The driver, Pedro Rascon, 17, and passenger, Bernave Rascon, 26, both of North Carolina, are being held in the Harrison County jail on charges of possession with intent to deliver, Gazzo's news release said. Both are being held in lieu of $50,000 bond. Pedro Rascon has an additional charge of driving without a license plate and no driver's license plate, Gazzo added.

Sexually-oriented business comments

You have just about ten more days to add your comments to the list of suggestions for an ordinance proposed to regulate sexually oriented businesses in Hancock County. Written comments will be accepted at 150 Main St., Bay St. Louis, Ms 39520 until 10 a.m. on December 6. Comments should be addressed to Hancock County Supervisors and may be mailed or delivered. Two strip clubs are proposed for the county, one on Hwy. 90 and one on Hwy. 603. Magnolia 1, the club proposed for Hwy. 90 was denied a Special Exception Permit by the Hancock County Planning Commission. Owners appealed the decision to the Board of Supervisors. No decision had been made concerning the proposal for Hwy. 603 by Hancock Entertainment. Both have filed first amendment suits in U.S. District Court. The proposed ordinance provides guidelines for regulating these, and other sexually oriented businesses. Copies of the proposed ordinance are available at the Supervisors Office on the first floor of the Hancock County Court House,

Boys & Girls Club celebrates 'Lights On'

The Hancock County Boys and girls club celebrated the 2004 National Lights on Afterschool Day recently with a pizza party, visits from local elected officials, and many frenzied rounds of dodgeball.

Lights on Afterschool day is a nationwide program designed to celebrate and support all afterschool activities.

These clubs can also be useful in preventing youth crime. National statistics state that the highest youth crime rates occur between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. on week-days—generally the times when children are left to their own devices before their parents return from work.

Steve Seymour, 4th district supervisor, was one of the officials present at the event. He said that 2004 marked the first year that the county was funding the program.

"We thought today would be a good time come and see the kids," he said.

God saw you getting tired, and a cure was not to be. So He put His arms around you and whispered, "Come to Me!"

With tearful eyes we watched you and saw you pass away. Although we loved you dearly we could not make you stay. A golden heart stopped beating, hard working hands at rest. God broke our hearts to prove He only takes the best.

INFINITY project at Space Center moves from concept to detail design

INFINITY at NASA Stennis Space Center, a new state-of-the-art science center and visitor attraction to be located near the Interstate 10 entrance to NASA Stennis Space Center, just west of the existing Mississippi Welcome Center moves forward with detail design. Mr. Leo Seal, Chairman of the Board, MAST, Inc., recently signed contracts totaling $3.25 million for detail design services.

A $1,800,000 fixed-price contract was awarded to New York-based ESI Design, one of the world's foremost experiential design firms, for development of the visitor experience.

MAST, Inc. has also awarded a $471,000 fixed-price contract to Stantec

Architecture of Vancouver, British Columbia, for final design of the INFINITY at NASA Stennis Space Center facility.

Studio South, an architectural and engineering firm based in Gulfport and Biloxi was awarded a contract for $975,000, and will serve as the project's Architect of Record.

INFINITY at NASA Stennis Space Center will engage visitors of all ages in exploring our earth, oceans and space through the work of the scientists, engineers and pioneers at work every day at NASA Stennis Space Center. The $35 million, 60,000 square-foot facility is scheduled to open early in 2007.

The project concept and design result from a public-private partnership between NASA and MAST, Inc., a nonprofit 501(c)(3) charitable organization chartered in the state of Mississippi. MAST, Inc. was formed in 2001 by a group of area business leaders to work with NASA on the project.

Visitors to INFINITY at NASA Stennis Space Center will explore three primary galleries: Earth, space and oceans. Each area challenges visitors with deepening levels of involvement, ranging from traditional gallery tours to hands-on experiments to activity-based "missions".

The facility will incorporate some aspects of Stennis Space Center's award-winning visitor center, StennisSphere, and the Education Resource Center.

In a study conducted by

Harrison Price Company, a firm that specializes in recreation market analysis, INFINITY at NASA Stennis Space Center is expected to draw 260,000 to 362,000 visitors per year. The study concludes a "favorable attendance outlook" for the project and "strong promise of financial self-sufficiency," based solely on revenues earned from admissions, merchandise and food and beverage sales.

Site preparation for INFINITY at NASA Stennis Space Center is scheduled to begin late 2004 with a formal groundbreaking in 2005. Doors will open in early 2007. For more information, please contact Tommie Staten at (228) 688-1393, tommie.staten@ssc.nasa.gov.

Medicare Discount Prescription Drug Cards

Imagine: You see a commercial on television or get a notice in the mail informing you that you can receive across the board discounts on your purchases, plus an additional $1200 in cash credit and savings for families making less than $18,600 a year. All you have to do to receive these benefits is call an 800 number or log on to a website.

This concept is not that far-fetched. It's exactly what Medicare's new prescription drug discount card program is offering. Starting in June 2004, this program is intended to assist seniors with prescription drug costs until full Medicare drug coverage begins in 2006.

The Mississippi Department of Human Services (MDHS), Division of Aging and Adult Services (DAAS), wants the state's seniors to know that help is only as far away as your fingertips. Medicare has taken steps to make signing up for assistance a simple process. Seniors, in Mississippi, should make a list of their drug and doses taken, estimate their monthly income, and call 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227). A customer representative will take the information and help them choose a card that is right for them.

Internet savvy seniors may log on to www.medicare.gov and sign up online.

For additional assistance with signing up for the Medicare Discount Prescription Drug Card Program, seniors may call 1-800-948-3090 and ask to speak with the insurance counselor. An additional resource is Mississippi's own prescription assistance website, SENIOR.MS.org.

Handmaidens of the Lord to spread the word through dance

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

A vision from God through the eyes of dancer Judy Verrett was the inspiration for some 20 women parishioners at St. Rose Catholic Church to begin The Handmaidens of the Lord Liturgical Dancers, they say. Their mission to spread the word of God and lift his message through the gift of dance.

The women have been performing for about seven years.

On Saturday, December 4, the women will perform and act as hosts for a gospel dance extravaganza, Jamin With The Lord, with the St. Rose de Lima Choir and the Male Ensemble, the Stewards Dancers for Christ, Anna the Ballerina, and the Sanctified Soldiers Christian Rappers. Julie Lombard Whitfield, former producer of "It's a new Day" will act as Mistress of Ceremony. The event will be held at 7 p.m. at the Bay High Auditorium.

"We really think there will be something for everyone," said coordinator Beverly Williams.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for students 18 years and under. Refreshments will be available and door prizes awarded. Proceeds from the event will be used to help fund a new parish center for St. Rose Parish.

The Handmaidens originally joined together for what they believed would be one performance, but the women realized that the path they were on was a way to glorify and become excited about the word of God. And to pass that word on to others through the gift of dance. As a matter of fact, said choreographer Isoko Zuberi, "It is our blessing and we must pass it on. Everyone has a gift and this is ours."

Military Mention

Air Force Reserve Airman Shaunon M. Willis has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches, and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Willis is the daughter of Demetria Ambrose of Hart St., Waveland, Miss.

In 2004, the airman graduated from Bay High School, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Navy Seaman Damian J. Dorsey, son of Connie F. and Murray Dorsey of Waveland, Miss., recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, Dorsey completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, firefighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations." This exercise gives recruits the skills and confidence they need to succeed in the fleet. "Battle Stations" is designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment. Its distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

Dorsey is a 2004 graduate of Hancock High School of Kiln, Miss.

Navy Seaman Recruit Brice B. Pangan, son of Wendy M. and Renny I. Pangan of Diamondhead, Miss., recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

The best part of Thanksgiving is always the leftover goodies

Editor's note: Due to space constraints, we were not able to include all of the schools in Thursday's edition of "How to Bake a Turkey." The following are excerpts from Bay Catholic Elementary's submissions.

RAY CATHOLIC

Mom orders the turkey at "Slamming Sam's Seafood and Grocery Store." The turkey is very big - 18 pounds. She pours water and turkey juice (about 90 gallons) and cooks it at "Slamming Sam's Seafood and Grocery Store." She cooks it for 18 hours and we know its done then. I play my Sonic Hero, Spiderman and Hulk games until it is finished.

We eat Thanksgiving at dinnertime. (I am in charge of the candy at "Slamming Sam's Seafood and Grocery Store.") We go to my house and eat Thanksgiving. I am thankful for my great family.

--Sam Black, kindergarten

Mamma gets the turkey at WalMart in Waveland. It weighs 10 pounds. First, she washes him and puts salt and pepper on it (5 pounds of each). She puts 5 cups of cream on the outside. She brushes the turkey with a brush. She dips it in juice. (I forgot what it is - I'm making it up). Cook on the stove for um, I forgot, I guess 10 hours and 10 minutes. It is finished when my Mimi, Daddy Ray, E.E., and Maw Maw come over. We pray for Tommy up in heaven.

--Lauryn Kidd, kindergarten

Daddy kills the turkey in the woods. I help him bring it home. Mommie cooks the turkey and Daddy takes the feathers off and keeps them in my room on the dresser. Mommie adds 3 gallons of water and puts it on the stove and cooks it for 3 seconds. Then we eat it with Nanie and PawPaw.

--Levi Knight, kindergarten

Daddy kills the turkey in the woods. He then takes the guts out and throws them in the garbage. Then he puts salt in it (a tiny bit) and water (a tiny bit). He puts garlic in it (about a little). He cooks it in the oven.

He then puts 4 carrots in it - add potatoes. He cuts them up. He cooks it in the oven for 30 minutes at steaming hot. It is finished when I get to play with Shelby, my cousin. It is ready when Mom calls.

--Will Lawhead, kindergarten

Me and my Grandma McCouley get the turkey at the supermarket. It costs $3 and weighs 2 pounds. She puts a lot of gravy in it and then she puts the mashed potatoes inside the pot. She pours the gravy on top of the mashed potatoes. She gets the corn - $6 worth and it weighs 3 pounds. She puts it in the pot. Then she puts the corn on the mashed potatoes.

She cuts all of the parts of the turkey and my mom, my Gramma, my dad, Mr. Gump, and my brother sit at the table.

Then, me and my brother get the turkey drum sticks and my family gets the turkey wing. I am thankful for my family.

--Drew Burnett, kindergarten

Don't be

(When Stella wrote this, she was thinking about Thanksgiving and the meals that will be starting to roll out of her kitchen during the coming holidays. I guess I'm lucky. Speaking of holidays, her cookbook would make a wonderful present for that special person up north. Think about it.)

In my cookbook, Blueberry Peaches, Red Robin Pie, I have a section on salads and appetizers and, under appetizers, I give several recipes for spreads. Some of these are very nice, like the recipe for paté. But for some reason I neglected to include in these recipes any that is exclusively a dip. I'm not sure why this happened. Maybe it's because nowadays we think of dips as something for parties and large gatherings. Something you can buy at Wal Mart when you have a large crowd and you need munchies to dig into with corn chips or reinforced potato chips.

To be frank, a dip is a dip; spreads are much more versatile.

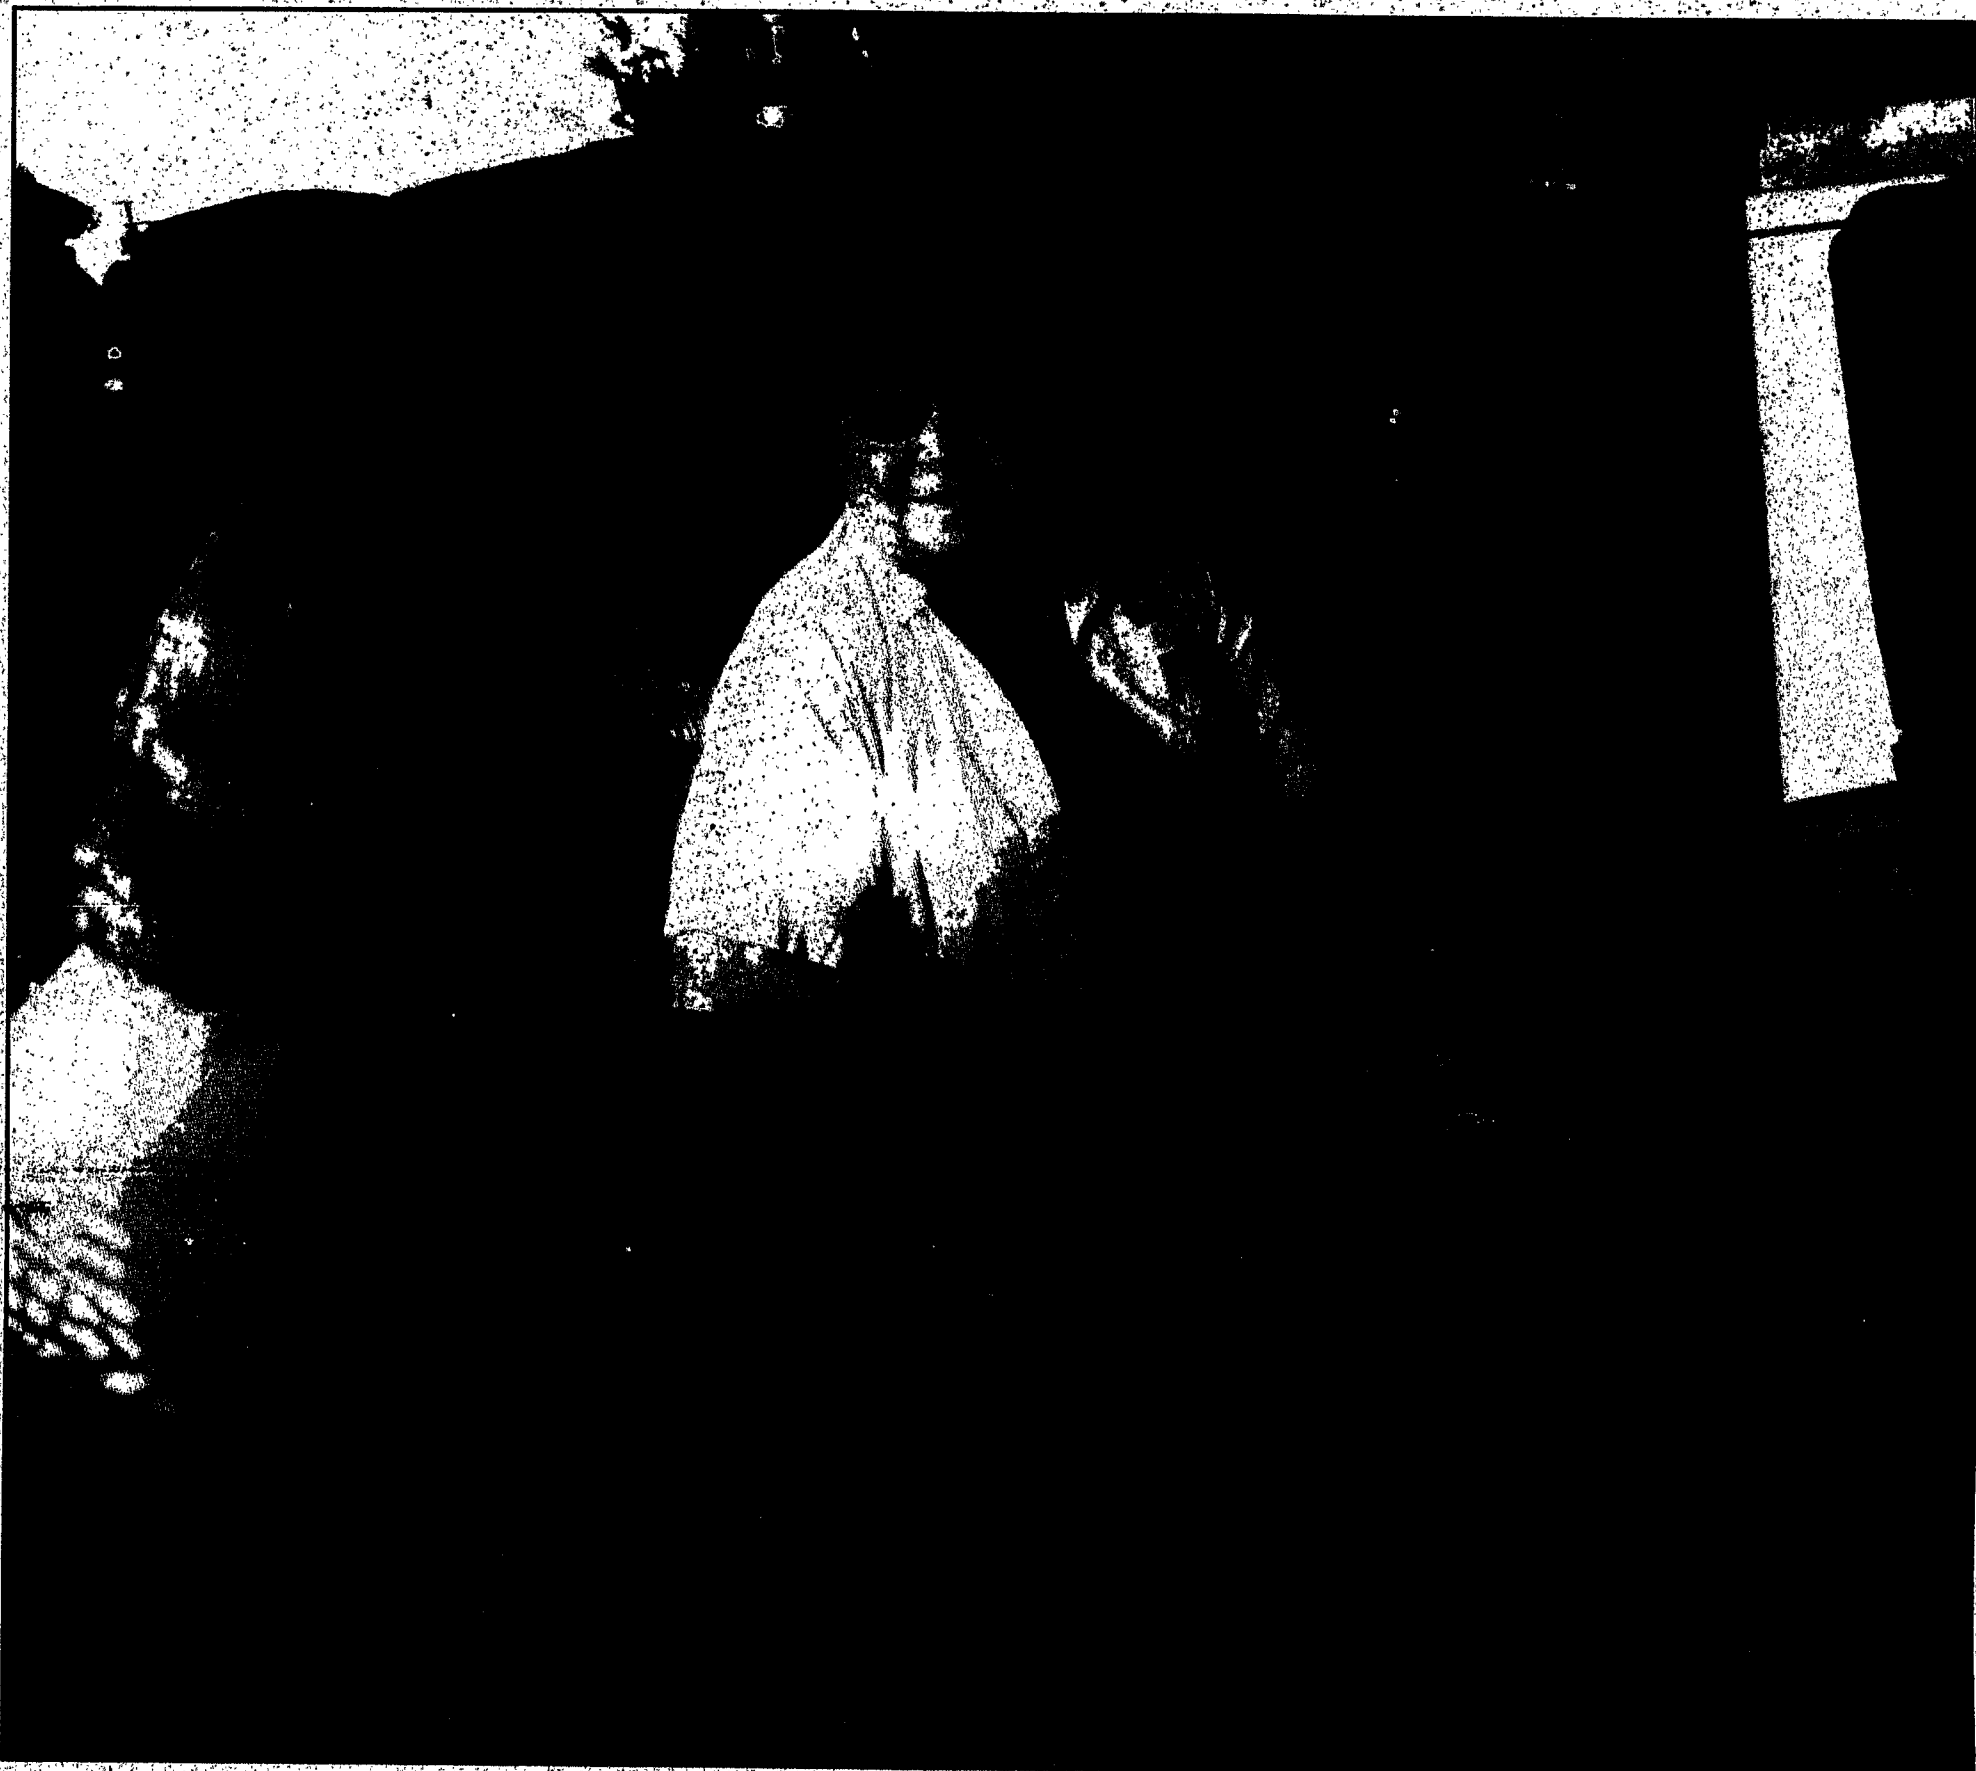

Spreads are like dips and yet different. Their ingredients are similar and a spread can usually be used as a dip, but a spread is also nice to have when there is only one or two persons and can present either an elegant or casual display. Their secret is that they are just as their name describes, spreadable, just like butter or jam. What is nice is that, when spread over some three- or four-day-old slices of French bread and served with a glass of wine, sherry, or beer, they make the perfect snack for when someone drops in or for those idle times of the day when you want a light nibble.

They do look elegant on some soft white bread with their crusts cut off or some lightly toasted French bread (for when you've eaten all the four-day-old bread). While spreads look nice when served as hors d'oeuvres, they have the advantage of being something you can have in the refrigerator and whipped out at a moment's

When Shoreline Park's Muriel Lewis was diagnosed with congestive heart failure, her movement was severely limited. Now, thanks to home health services, she can get her badly-needed medical treatment ...

Close to Home

Home care and hospice nurse Karen McKee, left, visits with Muriel Lewis, 67, at her home in Shoreline Park. Lewis was recently diagnosed as suffering from congestive heart failure.

Home health helping Hancock

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

November is National Home Care and Hospice Month, and no one is more thankful for the service provided by home health providers than Shoreline Park resident Muriel Lewis, 67. Lewis suffers from a myriad of health concerns, but when she was diagnosed with congestive heart failure, health professionals advised her that her movement would be severely restricted.

To travel any distance, Lewis and her husband Dale must load her hovercraft into the van. She is unable to walk any distance without getting out of breath and putting her already overworked heart at risk. Without home visits, Lewis would have to make one or more trips to the hospital each week for treatment that she can now receive at home.

The visits save Lewis' precious energy and perform a secondary service. They keep her away from the hospital and the possibility of picking up a potentially dangerous infection there because of her lowered immunity.

The service allows patients with Lewis' condition, with chronic health disorders, to spend their valuable time at home and home visits allow her nurses to monitor her condition more closely in familiar surroundings, said Lewis' primary physician, Dr. David Roberts. The home nurse can also monitor medication and often intervene before potential problems become bad enough for a hospital stay, he said.

"The hope is that we can keep her out of the hospital," said Roberts.

Lewis is all for staying out of the hospital. She spent two months there this past summer and was in and out of the hospital many times this past year, she said. Her heart condition showed up at about the same time as her diabetes, though Roberts said that the diabetes, which went undetected, likely contributed to the heart condition and also to a chronic condition of the pancreas.

Her regular nurse, Karen McKee visits about once a week or more if needed. McKee administers tests and treatments as called for and keeps tabs on Lewis' blood pressure and other vital signs.

McKee has been visiting the home for about two months and it was easy to see even by a casual observer that the two had established a friendly camaraderie. As a matter of fact, that camaraderie and the opportunity to develop a personal relationship with a patient is one of the draws of home nursing, McKee said, at least for her.

"I love my patients and being able to spend time with them and make a difference in their lives," said McKee. "In a hospital setting you don't get to develop the bond with a person that you can when you visit them in their own environment ... it makes it more personal."

"The patients become like family," said patient care coordinator Kim Sims. "It is very rewarding to see that you can help people stay out of the hospital."

Second Friday Book Club

Gifts to Library Foundation give back all year long

Christmas is a time of giving, but sometimes holiday checklists get long and expensive. A new trend is emerging on the Coast: to give gifts that give back to the community year-round. This seems to set the true example of holiday gift giving.

The Library Foundation of Hancock County's mission is to provide the Margin of Excellence funds to enhance the programs and services of the Hancock County Library System. Numerous opportunities are available to remember that special someone during the holiday season.

The Foundation Tree, located in the Highway 90 foyer of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, offers a unique opportunity for individuals, families, businesses and organizations to honor or memorialize someone annually.

Inscribed brass leaves are placed on the bronze, brass and Plexiglas sculptured tree designed as a symbol of the importance of advocacy for library service.

Anniversaries, birthdays and weddings can also be commemorated with bronze leaf inscriptions.

Another opportunity is to inscribe a brick on Path to the Kiln Library. The pathway is located at the side entrance to the building. Bricks can be inscribed in memory of someone special, in honor of someone special or to recognize special events.

The Library Foundation also maintains a wish list of items at each of the library system's four branches. This wish list contains anything from areas of the library to tables and chairs to landscaping.

All gifts are acknowledged with a receipt and are tax deductible. Acknowledgments are sent to honorees or the family of those memorialized or honored.

Further information on these and other memorial opportunities is available by calling Mary Perkins in the Development Office at 467-6836.

Military Mention

OLIVIA S. MOSS

Olivia S. Moss has been commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force after graduating from Officer Training School (OTS) at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala.

At OTS, cadets undergo a demanding 12-week course that trains them to be top quality Air Force officers through an extensive curriculum comprised of classroom work, lectures, and exercises to develop leadership, team building, and officer skills. Cadets receive instruction in military training and application, professional knowledge, human behavior, defense studies, leadership studies and management, communication skills, physical fitness, and field training exercises.

Moss, a personnel officer, is the daughter of Gary D. and Joyce C. Lee of Lloyd Lee Road, Petal, Miss.

Her husband, Dustin, is the son of D.H. Moss of West Lenktree Gulch Road, Star, Idaho, and Kathy Busby of Cheyenne Road, Pass Christian, Miss.

The lieutenant graduated in 1997 from Long Beach High School, Miss., and received an associate degree in the year 2000 from Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Gulfport. In 2002, she earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg.

MICHAEL ENLOE

Navy Midshipman Michael W. Enloe, a 2004 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, Bay St. Louis, Miss., recently completed Plebe Summer at the United States Naval Academy and has begun four years of preparation for commissioning as a Navy or Marine Corps officer.

During Plebe Summer, Enloe completed a demanding, fast-paced orientation which required him to rapidly assimilate basic skills in seamanship, navigation, infantry drill, marksmanship and sailing.

Enloe has now begun the extensive training in leadership, discipline, athletics, academics and character development that he will use while serving his country as an officer in the U.S. Navy or Marine Corps.

All midshipmen will receive a Bachelor of Science degree upon completion of their training at the Naval Academy.

WILLIAM F. MCCANDLESS

Navy Seaman Apprentice William F. McCandless, son of Clelie F. and William H. McCandless of Waveland, Miss., recently completed U.S. Navy basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week program, McCandless completed a variety of training which included classroom study and practical instruction on naval customs, first aid, firefighting, water safety and survival, and shipboard and aircraft safety. An emphasis was also placed on physical fitness.

The capstone event of boot camp is "Battle Stations". This exercise gives recruits the skills and confidence they need to succeed in the fleet. "Battle Stations" is designed to galvanize the basic warrior attributes of sacrifice, dedication, teamwork and endurance in each recruit.

through the practical application of basic Navy skills and the core values of Honor, Courage and Commitment. Its distinctly "Navy" flavor was designed to take into account what it means to be a Sailor.

McCandless is a 2002 graduate of Pass Christian High School of Pass Christian, Miss.

Views -- dips and spreads

notice for some really tasty, yet elegant, snack. They can be a nice adjunct to a buffet breakfast or served as the main part (with coffee) of a continental breakfast. They are amazingly versatile and are really limited in their use by the imagination of the user.

But as the ads say, they are best when used as "casual wear." Paul likes a dish of such spread-topped bread to "prop up an afternoon of reading a book on the porch or watching the birds fly by." I don't know whether it's the beer or the book, but I usually see him after a bit sound asleep, the book on the porch, beer half gone and, most importantly, the slices of spread-topped bread all gone.

(Speaking of bread, spreads used with bread are especially enhanced when used with the fresh French or Italian bread that is found in almost all the local markets. Do not buy the French or Italian bread sent over from New Orleans. Get the stuff made right here and get it hot and, best of all, get it covered with either with sesame or poppy seeds! If the market does not have any bread made with sesame or poppy seeds, tell them to start making them.)

There are any number of ingredients that can be used for making spreads. For the recipe that I've included with this column, I present one we tried last week made of smoked salmon, dill, capers, and cream cheese. Oh, yes, and a little hot sauce. But use this as an example. Almost the same (but quite different in taste!) recipe can be made by substituting spicy cooked shrimp or crawfish or smoked clam, mussels or oysters.

You can go further by adding a cheese, say a sharp or mild cheddar, as the predominant ingredient rather than the salmon. You can add a sherry or a port wine to the mix. The list is endless and what is very nice is that you will find some secret mix of materials that will be wonderful in taste and will be your special secret.

Bon Appetit, Stella

Hancock Library staff receive technology pins

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Staff members of the Hancock County Library System were recognized this week with technology pins for their work in implementing the new Easy Access Catalog.

The Easy Access Catalog is just one phase of the FOCUS (Free Online Computer User Services) project which began in early 2002.

"Staff put in long and hard hours getting ready to implement the new web-based automated library system," said Prima Plauché, Hancock Library System Director. "We wanted to recognize them for their dedication to assuring that our customers receive the best in library and information services."

The FOCUS Project was funded by a Library Services and Technology Act Grant administered by the Mississippi Library Commission and a gift from the Leo Seal Family Foundation.

Home

One of the personal touches in Lewis' home is her Cockatiel Chip. Everyone visiting that day took the time to visit with the bird. His specialty is doing the chicken dance with anyone who comes near his cage.

Home care, like the rest of the world has embraced technology to make the job easier. Each home worker carries a laptop that can connect them to the home office and all the patients charts and records stored there. The nurse can download the patients charts for the next day on the evening before a visit and refresh her memory as to the needs that each patient will have before she arrives. Strict records are kept of all medications, tests and procedures, McKee said. She sees about six patients a day.

To qualify for home health a patient must be classified as homebound. The service also provides for a nurse on call 24 hours a day for emergencies.

Andrea's Annex

Andrea's Annex, 310 Jeff Davis Ave., Long Beach, can create baskets and gifts that suit nearly every dietary need.

Offering sugar-free, low-fat, low-carbohydrate and gourmet products, Andrea's Annex customizes the baskets to your specifications. Owner Andrea Yeager studies with gift basket experts several times a year at the Gift Basket University at America's Mart in Atlanta and at the International Fancy Food Show in New York City.

"Most people have never heard of the Gift Basket University and are surprised that one exists," Yeager said. "I take at least nine to 12 hours of classes at each of the shows. This helps me stay informed about the trends in gift baskets, and believe me, just as fashion styles change so do the way baskets are put together."

"Gift baskets are fun for me to do. I'm a creative person and also have always layout and design. Baskets aptly fit those talents," she said.

Like her entire shop, the baskets are a labor of love for Yeager. She wants every recipient to feel that each basket was made with her/him in mind. What more could you want in a present than to know it was picked out specifically for you.

"In addition to the individual baskets, we also do corporate gift baskets," Yeager said. "My staff are fully trained in basket design and have worked with me the two years that we've been open. They know that our creations must have a distinctive look."

Gift baskets, while a fun part of the shop, are not all that Andrea's Annex offers. There are gourmet gifts that make great teachers', hostesses' and secret pals' gifts, costing less than $7. Hand-dipped chocolates, mulling spices with holiday tins, candles, cookbooks and Boyd's Bears ornaments are just some of the gift bag selections.

For the children on the list, Boyd's Bears plush animals, children's pizza-making kits and silicone bakeware kits are available as are chefs' hats and aprons.

"My 12-year-old daughter selects all of our children's products," Yeager said. "Who knows better what kids want than another kid?"

For chocolate lovers, the new "Eat Chocolate, Lose Weight" cookbook is a must-have. Author Anne Isham of Texas has spent years researching the health benefits of chocolate and has lost weight eating it. All the recipes use natural, healthy ingredients.

Another cookbook is a new one by Aspen Mulling Spices, which uses the mulling spices in everything from appetizers to Snickerdoodles.

If the holidays get too hectic, Andrea's Annex also offers Gourmet-To-Go menu items from Naomi's Catering in Gulfport and fresh breads from Bello's Bakery in Ocean Springs. Sugar-free and regular cheesecakes are available daily from Hope's Cheesecakes in Gulf Shores, Ala.

"We know how busy the holidays can be, and we can help," Yeager said. "If our customers have covered-dish meals to attend, we have quarts of chicken salad and ambrosia that will save them time. All they have to do is give us one day's notice. If they want whole cheesecakes, we need two day's notice."

Andrea's Annex is a blessing to its owner, but more than that, the shop and its owner want to be a blessing to others.

Good Examples

It is always gratifying for parents when they see their children exhibiting good examples that they learned from them. For example, saying "thank you" without being prompted, or sharing, or simply being kind to others. Kindness, patience, honesty, and gentleness are some virtues that people should learn when they are young, and if so, will be carried with them throughout their lives. In most cases, a child is a direct reflection of their upbringing and the examples that they see around them. If a child is exposed to vulgar or rude language, it seems only natural to them that they can speak in the same manner. To a young person, if a parent demonstrates dishonesty or corruption, it can be perceived as an acceptable practice. To simply tell a child that something is wrong is not good enough if our actions reflect otherwise. Giving guidance and being involved with children and their daily activities will be beneficial to them as they grow. Also, developing a good religious atmosphere by attending church services, reading the Bible, and praying together will help reflect and reinforce the good examples that are important for building good character.

Now therefore, listen to me, my children, for blessed are those who keep my ways.
New K.J.V. Proverbs 8:32

AREA DEVOTIONAL & DIRECTORY PAGES

Can we count the reasons for thanks?

Back in the third century B.C., Pharaoh Djoser had a lot to be thankful for, as he explains to us in a civil document. Troubled by a dream about 7 skinny cows which ate 7 fat cows, he called upon Joseph, a Hebrew slave, to explain it. Joseph interpreted the dream to mean 7 years of plentiful grain followed by 7 years of famine. (Genesis 41)

Not everyone is so fortunate - we might say blessed - as Pharaoh Djoser. After putting his signet ring on Joseph's finger and installing him over all Egypt, he watched Joseph systematically gather huge stores of grain throughout the 7 years of abundance. For the following 7 years, all the countries of the world came to Joseph for grain. (Genesis 41:57)

Because Joseph was sold into slavery in Egypt for 20 pieces of silver, he became God's instrument for saving the whole world from famine. What or who would be the equivalent of Joseph of Egypt in today's world where chronic famine is rampant?

In Africa alone, 12 million children and families are in a starving condition, and some 18 million are at risk, beginning with the weak and the elderly. A handful of sub-Saharan countries plus some others are staggering under chronic, prolonged drought which almost nullifies crop and cattle production and aggravates the AIDS pandemic.

Periodically, a very similar situation has arisen in India where the dry season at times overpowers the benefits of the monsoon season. In fact, in many areas around the world the desired balance between the dry and wet seasons fails miserably in given years. The results are disastrous to agriculture and the hoped-for food stores so sorely needed.

So what do we have to be thankful for? By and large, except for some crazy El Nino years, the United States of America has been immune from the ravages of drought and other forms of destructive weather. True, we have hurricanes, tornadoes and periods of flooding, but, through it all, most of our crops come through in superabundance.

Only during the Dust Bowl Days of the early 1930s did we truly suffer from deadly drought, and then only because we had shot ourselves in the foot. Instead of being thankful and generous, wheat farmers in the Oklahoma and Texas panhandles were grasping and greedy, plowing and planting wheat as never before.

Coming off the incredible crop of 1926, they pursued wheat crops feverishly without a thought to rotating crops in order to rebuild the land. That, together with the heedless plowing of grasslands, rendered millions of acres of farm land useless and dying.

With a good wheat crop in 1930 and a bumper crop of over 12 million bushels in 1931, the wheat supply forced the price down from 68 to 25 cents a bushel. Many farmers went broke, and others, despairing of making a decent living, abandoned their fields.

Worst of all, the millions of acres of land, which had been exhausted by indiscriminate planting and the plowing under of grasslands, swiftly eroded, lost their vegetation and turned to dust. This horrendous process accelerated until the central part of the United States was transformed into enormous clouds of dust: the Dust Bowl.

"Oh beautiful for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain! For purple mountain majesties above the fruited plain!"

Fortunately, we can give thanks once more that this depiction is again a reality. The Dust Bowl Days hung around long enough to teach us multiple lessons. First and foremost, it does not pay to be greedy and heedless. Nothing, not even land, is inexhaustible. Therefore, we learned the second related lesson of crop rotation.

We must give thanks that we were forced into learning how not to destroy precious vegetation by thoughtlessly plowing vital grasslands under. With no vegetation to hold it down, the soil soon became pulverized and airborne. Concurrently, we learned the lesson of planting periodic lines of trees to establish themselves as windbreakers.

Out of the Dust Bowl Days there has arisen a more informed America, a much wiser America, and an America which is inclined to think gratitude first and to put thankfulness ahead of selfishness and greed. Isn't it ironic that putting gratitude and thoughtfulness before greed and selfishness actually brings us more and better crops?

In contrast to the devastating Dust Bowl Days, when our farmers went bust, the amber waves of grain and the fruited plain of the United States of America have truly turned into the world's No. 1 breadbasket. While there are vast wheat fields in various parts of the world, nothing approaches the mind-bending, never-ending fields here at home.

So, what do we have to give thanks for in the way of food? Crops so plentiful that they are sometimes plowed under to keep prices from plunging. Grain elevators overflowing to the point where Uncle Sam is looking for hungry nations where we can unload some.

Yes, we are today's Joseph of Egypt.

The main precaution in giveaways is that we must remain aware that we have on occasion upset the world market by giving grain and other foods to starving nations. Although it is not dumping, giving away huge quantities of food can have the same effect as dumping and thereby deflating prices on the world market.

What a blessing that we as a nation have gone from bust to bustling and overflowing! If only we can be thankful enough now to avoid wasting half of the food we claim to be consuming, and to avoid wasting half of the energy we purport to be using.

We have so many other things to be thankful for that we can scarcely count the reasons for being grateful. Food was mentioned first, because without food nothing else works. "First live, and then philosophize," warned the ancient Roman.

Yes, we have an undaunted faith in our Creator, in resurrection and eternal life to share with anyone interested. As a foundation on which supernatural builds, we have all the wonders of our minds, as well as the breathtaking fauna and flora all around us.

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

Pieces of the past

Archeological artifacts of the Middle East teach us about our history and facts about the Bible. The Dead Sea Scrolls were found in 1947 and are thought to be a thousand years older than any other version of Hebrew Scriptures.

Pontius Pilate inscription found in Caesarea in 1961, helps confirm the existence of the Roman governor who ordered Jesus to be crucified.

The ancient city of Nineveh, now known as Mosul in Iraq, is the city where God sent Jonah to preach to the people of Nineveh to repent and turn back to the Almighty. Babylon, also in Iraq, is where the Old Testament's Tower of Babel was built. Cain's offspring settled throughout Iraq.

It is believed by many that the Garden of Eden was located where the waters of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers meet; this has not been proven, however.

Abraham's altar, his slaughtering choral, and the Twelve Pillars representing the Twelve Tribes of Israel have recently been uncovered in the Sinai Desert.

Mount Sinai is now in dispute of its present location. A recent discovery may put its true location about 300 miles due South of Jerusalem. (Gal. 4:25, 26)

The rock that is 40 feet high and split right down the middle stands clearly seen by away as the rock Moses struck in anger in the Sinai Desert. This story is found in the Book of Exodus, Chapter 20, verse 11.

Is it not ironic that the last chapter of history is now taking place where the first chapter started?

The possibility of salvation

There is a subtle and eternally dangerous trend in America. There is more and more antagonism directed against Christian organizations in government and academic circles. As a result, the work of the church is being made much more difficult.

But this is not the bottom line. Because the public view of the church and of Christianity is sinking, more people are being directed away from Christianity by officialdom. Let me give you a couple examples.

Key administration officials call the largest evangelical Christian organization in America irrelevant.

Yet this organization represents some of the largest Christian denominations in America. On a local level, a daycare center in Kansas faced difficulty in getting a new director certified.

The new director is well qualified and the day care center operates on Christian principles. However, the state inspector repeatedly spoke of the daycare center, being Christian, in a derogatory way. The upshot is that in official circles, Christianity is looked down upon. The result is fewer people hear the Christian message. The possibility of salvation and heaven is being reduced for many many people. The trend in schools is another example. Prayer, Bible reading and Christian moral standards have been and are being excluded.

Children are being taught, by the absence of these things, that God is unnecessary. As a result, the work of the church is actually being undermined.

The possibility of salvation is reduced. You see, for salvation to occur, people need to be placed. They need to place themselves within earshot of the message of the Bible. When the message of the Bible is muted, the possibility of salvation is removed.

Bluegrass master Skaggs plays Bay Magic

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Bluegrass musician, Ricky Skaggs and his band Kentucky Thunder are set to perform two shows at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on January 14th and 15th at 9 p.m. A professional musician for 30 years, this eight-time Grammy Award winner continues to do his part to lead the recent roots revival in music with five consecutive Grammy nominated albums.

Tickets for these performances are on sale now for $14.95, $19.95 or $24.95 at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet.

Skaggs, now 50, was born in eastern Kentucky, and was already an accomplished singer and mandolin player by the time he reached his teens. In the late '70s, Skaggs turned his attention to country music. Though still in his twenties,

Ricky Skaggs

the wealth of experience and talent he possessed served him well, first as a member of Emmylou Harris' Hot Band and later as an individual recording artist. With the release of Waiting For the Sun To Shine in 1981, Skaggs reached the top of the country charts, and remained there throughout most of the 1980s. As his popularity soared, he garnered eight awards from the Country Music Association (including "Entertainer of the Year" in 1985), four Grammy Awards and dozens of other honors.

In 1997, Skaggs established his own record label which became home to his band, Kentucky Thunder. When Skaggs & Kentucky Thunder perform, their concerts have a non-stop, no-holds-barred energy that reflects both sincere enthusiasm and consummate professionalism. It is an awesome experience, one that brings both old and new audiences to their feet. Ricky Skaggs has often said that he is "just trying to make a living" playing the music he loves.

But it's clear that his passion for bluegrass puts him in the position to bring this lively, distinctively American form of music out of isolation and into the ears and hearts to audiences across the country and around the world.

Don't miss Ricky Skaggs, January 14th & 15th at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis! Must be at least 21 to attend.

Peter Falk turns angelic again in CBS holiday movie

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Peter Falk has been touched by an angel... several times. The veteran actor best known as the famously rumpled police detective Columbo has developed another recurring TV character, an angel named Max who makes yuletide visits to Earth to help families in distress. After playing the part in two high-rated movies - "A Town Without Christmas" (2001) and "Finding John Christmas" (2002) - Falk reprises the role in the new CBS drama "When Angels Come to Town" Sunday, Nov. 28. Apparently having erred by contacting a woman (Emmy winner Tammy Blanchard, "Life With Judy Garland:

Me and My Shadows") who hopes to retrieve her younger brother from foster care, Max is told by his supervisor (Katey Sagal, "8 Simple Rules") he was meant to deal instead with a man (Seann Gallagher) about to modernize his family's Christmas-ornament firm, thus eliminating much of the staff. "It's great fun for an actor, as well as great fun for the audience, when a character you keep playing shows up as different people," Falk reasons. "I've been acting a long time, but I've never had the chance before to wear a black bowler hat and a bow tie and to carry a silver-handled cane. That's how Max looks the first time you see him in this. The second time, I guarantee you it will come as a surprise."

Falk's ties to angel stories date back to director Wim Wenders' acclaimed 1987 movie "Wings of Desire," the story of an angel who returns to earthly life, in which the actor played himself. "I'd heard of ex-convicts and ex-wives, but never of an ex-angel," Falk muses. "That captured my imagination, just as the character of Max does." Also enjoying the success of the computer-animated movie "Shrek Tale," in which he's heard as Don Brizzi, Falk is preparing another "Columbo" case that will take the rumpled sleuth into the world of Victoria's Secret. "We're not totally satisfied with the ending," Falk reports. "I don't want people to sit there for two hours and not be totally delighted by the way he solves these crimes."

Sports Best Bets

By Mark Passaro
Zap2it

"NFL Football" Monday, Nov. 29

(ABC, 9 p.m. ET): The climate will certainly be different, and the Green Bay Packers hope the final score against St. Louis follows suit. A shootout in their home dome went the Rams' way last year against the Pack, as quarterback Marc Bulger aired it out with three TD passes in a 34-24 win. But throwing could prove more difficult in the nighttime Wisconsin air, conditions Packers running back Ahman Green usually thrives in.

"College Basketball" Wednesday,

Dec. 4 (ESPN, 9 p.m. ET): The season's first major road test awaits for highly ranked North Carolina tonight when the Tar Heels visit Indiana. They shouldn't be intimidated, though, what with an experienced starting five of two seniors and three juniors making up Roy Williams' talented squad. Forward Rashad McCants is the go-to guy. Entering this season, McCants had scored in double figures in 60 of his 65 games as he steadily moves up N.C.'s all-time points list.

"College Football" Saturday, Dec.

4 (CBS, 2:30 p.m. ET): The losing has continued this season at Army, one year removed from becoming the first major college football team to go 0-13. And Navy, fresh off its first bowl appearance since 1996, is headed for another winning campaign and likely another bowl game. But recent history means nothing in this storied rivalry's 105th meeting, where emotions in the current wartime climate will be at a fever pitch. Senior fullback Kyle Eckel powers Navy.

Marc Bulger leads the St. Louis Rams against the Green Bay Packers Monday on ABC.

Celebrity Scoop

Christine Estabrook

By John Crook
© Zap2it

TV audiences have a Gladys Kravitz for the new millennium in Martha Huber (Christine Estabrook), the resident busybody who meddles in the lives of her Wisteria Lane neighbors on "Desperate Housewives," ABC's new Sunday smash.

"Martha is someone who always wants to be part of the action, but unfortunately because of her personality, she is always kept on the outside," explains Estabrook. "I don't think she'd ever be picked for a team. She's one of those people everyone dreads being: someone who, when she walks by, people say under their breaths, 'Oh, my God, it's Martha Huber; pretend you don't see her!'"

"Housewives" creator Marc Cherry created the role with Estabrook expressly in mind. The pair had worked on the short-lived 1995-96 Fox flight attendant sitcom "The Crew."

"Marc has a knack for writing lines that are in the same rhythm as I naturally speak," Estabrook says. "That makes them very easy to memorize, and if I substitute one word for another, it invariably has the same number of syllables as his original word."

Shortly after "The Crew" crashed, Estabrook found herself, along with Chi McBride, at the center of a firestorm in UPN's slapstick 1998 sitcom "The Secret Diary of Desmond Pfeiffer."

denounced by some black activists as racist.

"I never saw it coming," Estabrook confesses. "To me, the show was nothing more than 'Benson,' but set in the Lincoln White House."

"The writers had such integrity that I thought people would get that we were doing a 'spoof satire.' The controversy was very painful for Chi. It was so unfortunate."

'Rudolph' turns 40 as CBS airs seasonal staple

By Jay Bobbin

Want evidence that a blinking red nose can have its benefits?

This yuletide season marks the 40th TV birthday of the most famous reindeer of all.

In December 1964, as Lyndon Johnson prepped for a full term as U.S. president, and Julie Andrews and Sean Connery packed theaters in their respective movie hits "Mary Poppins" and "Goldfinger," NBC took a gamble on a unique special that used a stop-motion animation style dubbed "Ani-magic" by producers Arthur Rankin Jr. and Jules Bass.

"Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" has aired annually ever since, finding a new home in 1972 at CBS, which gives the ever-enchanted fantasy its 40th anniversary telecast Wednesday, Dec. 1.

For many people, it just wouldn't be the holidays without the saga of Rudolph's adventurous, tuneful path to guiding Santa's sleigh one foggy Christmas Eve... thanks to his unique schnoz, once an albatross but ultimately the saving grace of a "Holly Jolly Christmas."

Popularized by Gene Autry, composer Johnny Marks' song about Rudolph would have been famous anyway. The Rankin-Bass production made it even more so, paving the way for other "Ani-magic" shows such as "The Little Drummer Boy" and "The Year Without a Santa Claus" (which ABC Family will show in December).

"My math tells me this is actually (the special's) 41st anniversary, but for the sake of round numbers, I'm willing to concede," Rankin muses. "The generation that saw the show when it was first on introduces it to their children, then to their grandchildren. It's been very rewarding to know your work has entertained so many people, not only in America but also abroad."

Four decades ago, Rankin and production partner Bass (who now lives in France) hoped "Rudolph" might endure, but Rankin maintains that "in show business, nobody knows anything. Maybe you've heard that before, but it's the truth. You just try to do your best and hope it's a success. Of course, 'Rudolph' was, which prompted us to acquire the rights to the title of almost every popular Christmas song named for a character." (Also included: "Frosty the Snowman," which CBS will repeat Friday, Dec. 3.)

Rankin originally took "Rudolph" to a sponsor instead of a network. "I pitched it to General Electric through an ad agency, and the man in charge of that division had worked for (the department store) Marshall Field's. He remembered the character as a promotional tool devised by Robert May (credited with the original 'Rudolph' story, though Romeo Muller wrote the teleplay). Johnny Marks wrote the song, but the character of Rudolph came from Robert, so the president of G.E. became very involved in getting the program on the air. He bought the air time on NBC."

"Rudolph" also is showcased on a 40th-anniversary DVD recently issued by Classic Media, including an introduction by Rankin and a bonus CD of the title tune by the newly reunited trio Destiny's Child. The release also boasts a digitally remastered version of the special, restored in 1998 after the songs "We're a Couple of Misfits" and "We Are Santa's Elves" had been edited over the years. Happy that Hermey, the elf who wants to be a dentist, goes on an "Ani-magic" quest with "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" as the classic holiday special has its 40th-anniversary telecast Wednesday on CBS.

"Rudolph" is back in its original form, Rankin has fond memories of the painstaking production process.

"Each person attended to one character, maybe two. They calibrated in their minds how the character should move, so the camera would click one frame, then the person would go in and change the position of the figure. We're a very close-knit group in our small company, so we all created this together."

"Johnny Marks was a neighbor of mine; I told him what I wanted to do, and he was very reluctant, for fear of jeopardizing the song that had become his bread and butter. I convinced him it would probably get the song played even more, and he went along. Of course, neither of us ever knew it would result in this kind of longevity."

'24' and counting: Fox series returns soon

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q Have we seen the last of "24"? I've seen no mention of nor promotion of it. - D. Maurer, via e-mail.

A Fear not. Counterterrorism agent Jack Bauer, still in the persona of Kiefer Sutherland, will return for more action when Fox launches the fourth season of the series with a two-hour episode Sunday, Jan. 9. The show will then air on Mondays, starting the next night. Part of the rationale is that Fox wanted to run the program every week until the TV season ends in May, instead of taking the long breaks that typified its earlier seasons. As a warm-up, Fox Home Entertainment is releasing a DVD set of the third year of "24" Dec. 7; it will include a preview of upcoming episodes.

Q Are Susan Saint James and Angie Harmon related in any way? They look and sound so much alike. - P.W., Cortland, N.Y.

A Well, we certainly agree on the sound. Those two women aren't related, but Saint James does have a niece who's an actress: Christa Miller Lawrence, the former

Kiefer Sutherland

"Drew Carey Show" co-star who's been a recurring guest star lately on NBC's "Scrubs." (Lawrence's husband, Bill, is that medical sitcom's creator and executive producer.)

Q I hear my favorite show, "Alias," will be back on in January, but its previous time slot is now occupied by "Desperate Housewives." One of these shows will have to move, but which one? - Linda Perez, Snohomish, Wash.

A "Alias" The espionage drama will relocate from Sundays to Wednesdays when it rejoins ABC's lineup with a two-hour episode Jan. 5. Since the series has been gone for a while, it's not a bad idea for ABC to put it behind one of the top new hits of the season, "Lost." We were always sure "Alias" would get a new night, since ABC wasn't likely to mess with the hugely successful "Housewives."

Q When will the "Nanny" reunion show be broadcast? I thought it was scheduled for October. - C.D., via e-mail.

A It was, then Lifetime moved it. The cable network now plans to show the regathering of Fran Drescher and company on Dec. 6.

Stars help children with HIV/AIDS

Gina Tognoni

By Paulette Cohn

The MAC cosmetics company makes the world a more beautiful place with its annual greeting card project for the holiday season, MAC AIDS Fund Kids Helping Kids.

Children between the ages of 3 and 12 who are affected by HIV/AIDS have created the beautifully illustrated cards.

Supporting the drive by using the holiday greetings for their personal mailings are Kelley Menighan Hensley (Emily, "As the World Turns"), Gina Tognoni (Dinah, "Guiding Light"), Courteney Cox (Arquette, David Arquette, Cynthia Nixon and Raven).

This year, all proceeds go directly to the Elizabeth Glaser Pediatric AIDS Foundation. The cards are available at <http://www.maccosmetics.com>; search "kids helping kids."

In casting news, Maurice Benard has re-upped with "General Hospital" and will continue in the role of Sonny Corinthos. At "The Young and the Restless," Lisa Canning, best known as a former "Entertainment Tonight" correspondent and for her gig on the now-canceled "On Air With Ryan Seacrest," joins Damon and Malcolm (Keith Hamilton Cobb, Shemar Moore) in their story line on Dec. 15.

Dear Paulette: On "The Bold and the Beautiful," who is the wonderful English lady who plays Jacqueline Payne Marone? I've been trying to figure it out for months now. I saw where she also played in "North and South." - Rita B., Pottsville, Pa.

Dear Reader: Lesley-Anne Down, who was voted the most beautiful teenager in Great Britain in 1970, plays the role. She also had a short-term role on "Days of Our Lives" in February 2001 as Lady Sheraton.

Dear Paulette: Sydney Penny (Samantha, "B&B") starred in a movie with Scott Reeves (ex-Ryan, "Y&R") back in 1991. The name of the movie is "Desires of the Heart." I think I saw it on Lifetime TV or TBS, and I would like a copy of the movie, or would like to know where or when I could see it again on TV. Thanks for all your help. - Sincerely, Lynda L., via the Internet.

Dear Reader: The correct name of the movie is "Hearts Afloat." It was a USA Network TV movie in 1996, and unfortunately, is currently not available on DVD or VHS.

Tuesday

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Richie Rich's Christmas Wish

David Gallagher ("7th Heaven") steps into the expensive shoes of the world's richest kid in this 1998 variation on the "It's a Wonderful Life" story. Richie is blamed for spoiling everyone's Christmas after his sleigh full of toys for orphans runs wild in the streets. It was actually evil Cousin Reggie's (Jake Richardson) doing, and a dejected Richie wishes he'd never been born. A wishing machine makes his request come true.

Wednesday

6:30 p.m. on FAM

"Twas the Night Before Christmas

"Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse..." Wrong! In this 1974 animated holiday film, a family of mice is definitely awake. When Albert (voice of Tammy Grimes), an intellectual young mouse, writes a letter insulting Santa Claus, the man in red decides to cancel Christmas deliveries to the entire town. Now, Albert must find a way to rectify the situation before hundreds of little children go without presents.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer

Burl Ives narrates this holiday perennial, an animated musical account of how young Rudolph and Hermey the Elf (who secretly wants to be a dentist) flee to the arctic wilderness, where they meet prospector Yukon Cornelius and the Abominable Snowman. Songs include "Holly Jolly Christmas" and "Silver and Gold."

Thursday

7 p.m. on FAM

Santa Claus Is Coming to Town

A mailman (voice of Fred Astaire) explains where Santa Claus came from in this animated special from 1970. In this version, the future jolly old man is a founding left on the doorstep of the Kringle, a family of toymakers. They name him Kriss, and he grows up with toys in his blood. In fact, he'd like nothing more than to give them away to youngsters, but mean Burgermeister Meisterburger will have none of that. Voices include Mickey Rooney, Paul Frees and Keenan Wynn.

Friday

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: The Christmas List

Mimi Rogers stars in this very entertaining holiday story of a store clerk named Melody who learns a valuable lesson about the true meaning of Christmas. Down on her luck, Melody decides to submit a wish list to Santa, and is shocked when all her wishes become reality. Rob Stewart and Maria-Maples also star in this 1997 drama.

Saturday

2:30 p.m. on FAM

Nestor, the Long-Eared Christmas Donkey

Nestor is a little bit Dumbo and a little bit Rudolph. Like Disney's famous elephant, the young donkey has oversized ears only a mother could love. And like the most famous reindeer, he saves Christmas, thanks to his oddity. But in this case, the Christmas he saves is the very first one; he's the donkey that the pregnant Mary rides to Bethlehem. Roger Miller narrates this charming animated holiday special and sings the songs.

Monday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 38-WB

7th Heaven

Singer Wayne Newton guest stars as himself in the new episode "Wayne's World," delivering a message from Martin's (Tyler Hoechlin) father in Iraq.

Mackenzie Rosman

(Mackenzie Rosman) finds an e-mail on Martin's computer that may explain why he's been misbehaving lately. Speaking of misbehavior, Lucy (Beverly Mitchell) drives the family crazy with her hormone-fueled grumpiness after being put on bed rest.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Fear Factor

You'd give blood for your best friend, wouldn't you? How about if bloodsucking insects were involved? In the new episode "Pairs," the contestants are four duos of best buddies. Whether they're still friends after performing the scary stunts required of them is anyone's guess. One of those stunts: transferring live leeches from one's mouth to the other's while blindfolded. Joe Rogan hosts.

7 p.m. on 54-UPN

One on One

Some job applicants paid their resumes: Breanna (Kyla Pratt) is padding something else in the new episode "Lost in the Headlights."

She's hoping to land a gig at a restaurant that favors well-endowed waitresses. Flex (Flex Alexander) tries to find a new girlfriend for his boss (guest star Curtis Armstrong).

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Everybody Loves Raymond

Four's a crowd, especially when two of the four are Frank and Marie (Peter Boyle, Doris Roberts). In this new episode, Robert and Amy (Brad Garrett, Monica Horan) discover that sharing living quarters with his folks can have its difficult moments. Ray Romano and Patricia Heaton also star.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

Everwood

In the new episode "Need to Know," Andy (Treat Williams) decides to refer Amanda's (Anne Heche) husband to Dr. Abbott (Tom Amandes) as his feelings for her intensify. Ephram (Gregory Smith) asks Bright (Chris Pratt) for advice about how to handle Madison's return. Amy (Emily VanCamp) learns Hannah's (Sarah Drew) secret.

Saturday Best Bets

12 p.m. on 6-NBC
The Ultimate Toy Awards
Let's hope Santa's watching this awards show for hints on what to stock up on. Consumers joined the toy industry press in voting on the year's top toys in 21 categories ranging from dolls to electronic games. In addition to the category winners, one plaything will be named "ultimate toy of the year." Candidates for that honor include the Princess Anneliese and Erika Barbies, E-L-M-O Elmo, and the Fisher-Price InteractTV.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC
Movie: The Perfect Storm
Billy Tyne (George Clooney), captain of the fishing boat Andrea Gail, hasn't had very good luck lately. But he is hoping the final run of the season will change that. It does; the haul is excellent. But to get it back to shore before it spoils, the crew must go directly through the mother of all storms. Mark Wahlberg, Michael Ironside, Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio and John C. Reilly also star in this fact-inspired 2000 adventure.

7 p.m. on HBO
Movie: The Last Samurai
Tom Cruise demonstrates the way of the sword in director Edward Zwick's sweeping 2003 adventure. In 19th-century Japan, American military man Nathan Algren (Cruise) is recruited to teach then-modern techniques of warfare in preparation for a new global diplomacy. Eventually, Algren regrets opposing the Samurai warriors he's meant to depose. Oscar nominees Ken Watanabe, Shin Koyamada, Koyuki, Seizo Fukumoto and Billy Connolly co-star.

7:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
Cops
In a new "Coast to Coast" episode, a K-9 unit helps Jacksonville, Fla., police apprehend a robbery suspect. In Albuquerque, N.M., officers surprise a driver and passenger in a vehicle that's parked in a spot known for drug dealing. So it's no surprise to them when the passenger turns out to have heroin in his wallet.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS
NCIS
Gibbs (Mark Harmon) and his team investigate the murder of a fellow NCIS special agent (guest star Tim Kelleher) in "Dead Man Talking." They start by reopening the case he was working on when he died: the robbery of a naval officer, now also deceased. The investigation leads them to a woman familiar with that case, who has some interesting information indeed.
